47. Telephone Conversation Record by Brian Mitchell, with the EPA, documenting who is served by the municipal water supply system dated 10/6/16
48. Site Summary Report from Golder Associates to the EPA dated October 2016

The above listed documents are hereby approved by the EPA, with the following exception. An example of such exception can be found on page 30 of the Site Assessment Summary Report which was submitted to the EPA via email on October 21, 2016. A sentence on page 30 reads "There are no receptors such as public drinking water supply wells, streams or rivers, public use areas, or occupied buildings (i.e., vapor intrusion concerns) near the Site." The EPA disagrees with and does not approve this statement and all similar statements contained in any document submitted to the EPA regarding the subject facility. There are several municipal drinking water supply wells located within one mile of the subject facility and in fact a map provided to the EPA by Mr. Tom Schilling, Water Operator for the City of Jefferson Iowa, shows the 10 year capture zone for these municipal water supply wells to be adjacent to the subject facility. Thus, the subject facility would likely fall in the 15 year capture zone. Additionally, there are several homes located within $\frac{1}{4}$ of a mile of the subject facility. The EPA considers these potential receptors to be near the subject facility, and understands that Electrolux intends to further evaluate potential pathways for these receptors as part of the next step to identify an appropriate site remedy.
